Warrington is a thriving new town situated in Cheshire, at the heart of the North West, 18 miles east of Liverpool and 20 miles west of Manchester. It is regarded as one of the UK's top commercial hubs, thanks to its outstanding transport connections.

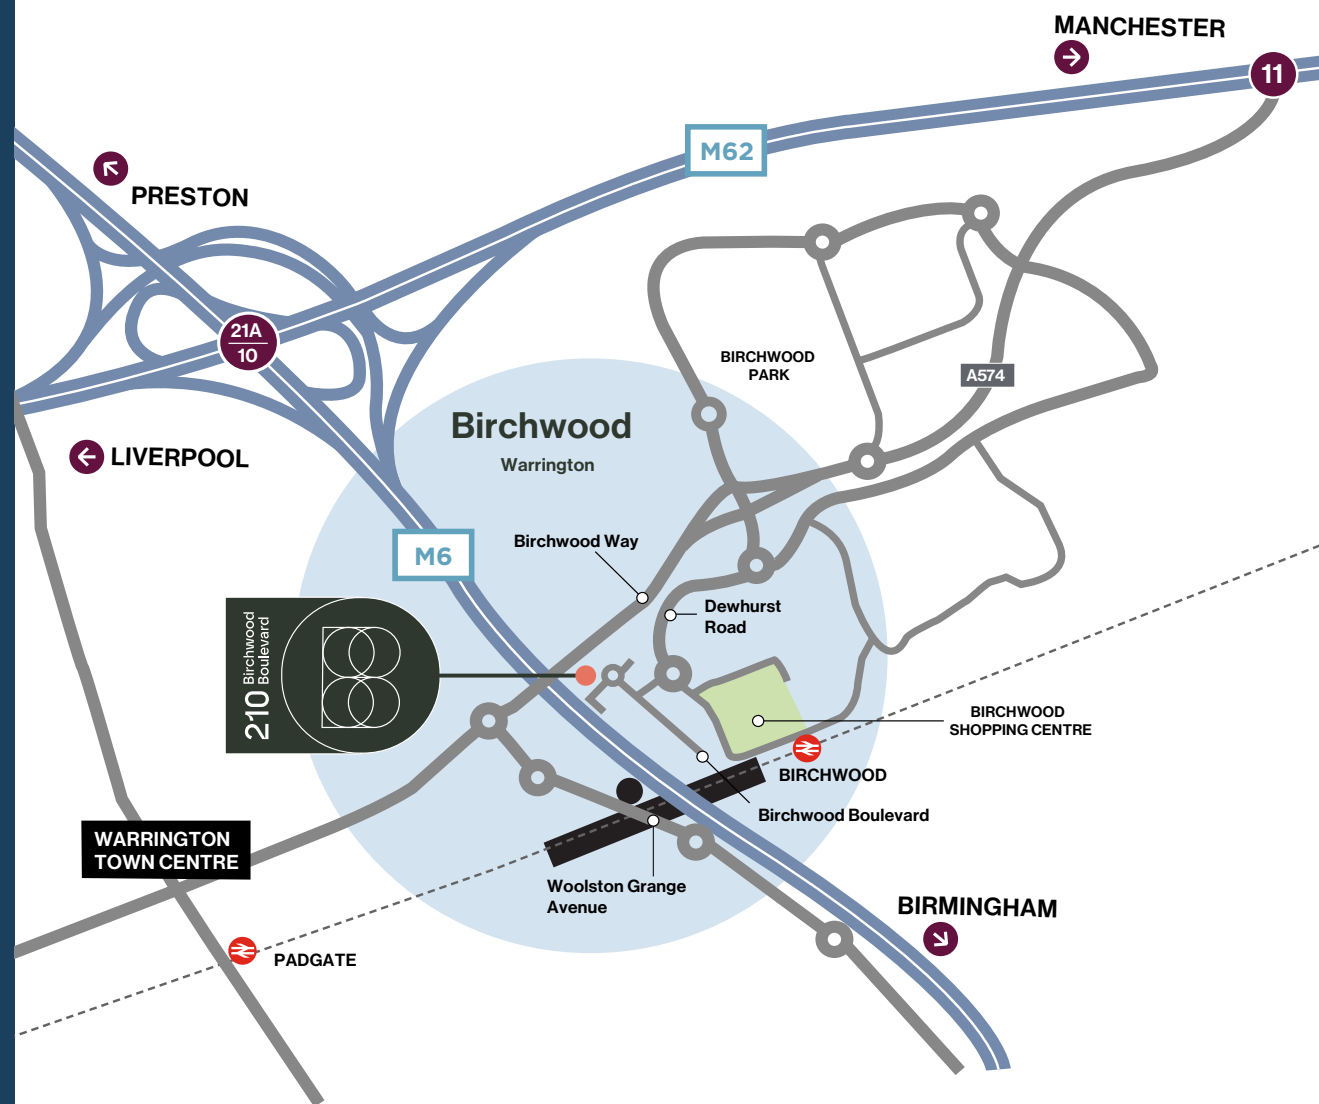

The town is strategically positioned near the junction of the M6, M62, and M56 motorways. The M6 links Warrington to Birmingham and London to the south, and Preston and Glasgow to the north. The M62 connects both Manchester and Liverpool, as well as offering trans-Pennine routes to Leeds and Sheffield. The M56 provides access to North Wales and the southern Manchester areas.

Warrington Bank Quay station is on the West Coast mainline, offering frequent services to London Euston (1 hour 52 minutes) and Glasgow Central (2 hours 50 minutes). Along with Warrington Central station, various local rail services are also available.

Both national and international destinations are easily reachable via Liverpool John Lennon Airport (14 miles away) and Manchester International Airport (18 miles away), with both airports within a 30-minute drive.

Warrington is the largest urban area in Cheshire, with a population of around 200,000. Due to its excellent transport links, over 1 million people live within 10 miles of the town centre.
